

Event:

Is wastewater a She?

Linking SDG6.3 (wastewater) and SDG5 (gender)

(session ID: 6782)

Monday, 28.08.2017

Folkets Hus, Room FH 300

No SDG6 without SDG5! Is wastewater gender neutral? Participants will discuss and explore the interlinkages of SDG6.3 and SDG5 and will show examples of how women are differently affected by lacking wastewater management but also how women play a key role in the sustaining of wastewater management service provision.

Programme 16:00-17:30

Welcome address - Jack Moss, AquaFed

Keynote Is wastewater a She? - Cynthia Mitchel, Institute for Sustainable Futures (ISF)

Realities – cases - Facilitator Maren Heuvels, BORDA

- Implications of lack of wastewater services - Bruno Tisserand, EurEau
- Indigenous women ´s perspective on wastewater - Kathleen Padulo, Chiefs of Ontario

Opportunities - Gender dimensions of economic opportunities from wastewater management and reuse - Facilitator Annemiek Jenniskens, WfWP

- What changes / effects result from women participating in wastewater management? - Carlos Carrion Crespo, ILO
- Research on wastewater reuse in agriculture and gender dimensions – Linda Bui, World Youth Parliament for Water

How to close the gaps - Facilitator Ulrike Kelm, AquaFed

- Key steps to share decision-making power in wastewater management beyond gender roles? - Marialena Vyzaki, European Bank for Reconstruction and Development (EBRD)
- Policy gaps that need to be addressed for the effective inclusion of women? – Uschi Eid, former Chair of UNSGAB

Wrap-up and closing - Jack Moss, AquaFed

Convenors: AquaFed, BORDA, ILO, WfWP